Save Great Cornard Old School!

The old School in Wells Hall Road was built around 1875 but in recent years has become a popular venue for such local groups as the Guides and Brownies, adult learning classes and various youth organisations.

Suffolk County Council now wish to divest themselves of the site and might be prepared to release it into the care of the local community if a business plan can be prepared which proves its long term viability.

A steering group of local residents has now been formed and they are keen to hear from any individual or group who might be interested in using the facilities.

The Old School has several halls and rooms, two kitchens, toilets, ample car parking and an outdoor play area. There is easy disabled access and external doors, and the car park, can be made secure.
